Summary

Hello, I am Danny!

Frontend engineer since 2021 with a prior B2B/B2C business background. I ship production web apps with clear UX and reliable integrations across consumer, enterprise, and Web3 products. I focus on steady delivery, thoughtful edge-case handling, and close collaboration with product, design, and engineering teams.

Experience

Teahouse Finance

Taipei, Taiwan

Frontend Web Developer

07/2024 - 07/2025

Tea-REX is a Sei-based Web3 app for on-chain margin trading and liquidity management.

- Built responsive trading UI and component library (TypeScript/React/Next.js), optimizing order/position flows end-to-end.
- Integrated multi-wallet flows with wagmi/viem (connect, chain switch, signature, transaction lifecycle), and implemented robust error/state handling for contract calls.
- Wired REST endpoints with contract data to power real-time positions, PnL, and liquidity views.
- Partnered with smart-contract and backend teams to define interfaces (ABIs, events, pagination).
- Drove UX polish (empty-states, toasts, form validation) and performance hygiene (code-splitting, memoization).

Trend Micro

Taipei, Taiwan

Frontend Web Developer

04/2022 - 08/2024

Enterprise customer portal unifying knowledge base, docs, service status, AI assistant, and case management.

- Implemented UI/UX for the Business Success Portal: global search across KB/docs, product hubs, and case flows; improved navigation and content discoverability.
- Integrated support utilities (submit/track cases) and Trend Companion AI assistant surfaces; coordinated with content and support teams for information architecture.
- Built reusable templates/components for multi-locale pages (including ja-JP, zh-TW), and hardened content rendering with sanitization and spam-pattern guards.
- Optimized page performance and crawlability (structured data, link semantics, lazy strategies), improving time-to-content and search visibility for high-traffic articles.

Shin Kong Life Insurance Co., Ltd.

Projects

Teahouse Finance - Tea-REX

Taipei, Taiwan

07/2024 - 07/2025

Tea-REX is a Sei-based decentralized app that lets users open leveraged long/short positions and manage liquidity directly on-chain. Beyond trading, the app offers lending pools for passive yield and automated "Prehistoric Vaults" strategy products—bringing margin trading, liquidity provision, and vault strategies into one unified Web3 experience.

Trend Micro - Business Success Portal 2.0

Taipei, Taiwan

04/2022 - 07/2024

Trend Micro Business Support (Business Success Portal): A central hub for enterprise customers to find technical answers, product documentation, and security updates, chat with an AI assistant, and open/manage support cases
